

List of places in Bikini Bottom

This article lists the places in the fictional city of Bikini Bottom from SpongeBob SquarePants.

Bikini Bottom consists of various landmarks, residential area, commercial area, industries, and government establishments.

Landmarks

*Gloveworld: Bikini Bottom's most popular Amusement park. Seen in Rock Bottom and when they open a new Roller Coaster in Roller Cowards.

*Goo Lagoon: A popular underwater beach for the residents of Bikini Bottom. Goo Lagoon contains sea caves, a pier amusement park, and other attractions.

*Jellyfish Fields: A place where SpongeBob and Patrick enjoy catching jellyfish. Over 4,000,000 jellyfish reside here. Other creatures live there such as clams, leeches, poisin sea urchins ,and a giant green monster. Objects found are a Treasure chest, an anchor, and hooks. Features include seaweed, rocks, coral plants, and big cliffs. Queen Jellyfish and King Jellyfish live there also. Queen Jellyfish responds to the call of "loser." King Jellyfish likes pie and challenges anyone that sees him taking a shower.

*The Brain Coral Fields: A field of brain coral on the bottom of a cliff in Jellyfish Fields. If someone replaces their brain with brain coral from the field, their IQ changes. In the episode Patrick SmartPants he falls off the cliff twice in to the field.

*Jellyfish Caves: Dark Caverns of Bikini Bottom, which leads to Jellyfish Lake.

*Jellyfish Lake: A large Lake of goo, which also has a waterfall.

*Mount Spork/Spork Mountain: The highest point of Jellyfish Fields, and the home of King Jellyfish. On the summit, King Jellyfish has a shower and bath tub.

*Kelpazoic Forest: a forest on the outskirts of Bikini Bottom. Instead of trees there are giant clumps of kelp trees all held together to form a spooky forest. Inside, it includes a camping area. In Club SpongeBob, SpongeBob, Patrick and Squidward got lost in the forest.

*Kelp Swamp: A large swamp in the middle of the Kelp Forest. It consists of various islands along side the swampy waters.

*Kelp Caves: A large cavern in the middle of the Kelp Forest, to get there you must go across the bridge that is located in Kelp Swamp.

*Kelp Vines: Area outside of the Kelp Caves, consisting of a large vine slide.

*Sand Mountain - a popular underwater ski resort, is the winter equivalent of Goo Lagoon. It consists of three slopes, each of which are graded in levels:

* (1) Guppy Mound (beginners level), Elevation: reasonably high

* (2) Flounder Hill (intermediate level), Elevation: challengingly high

* (3) Sand Mountain (expert level), Elevation: extremely high

:You can tongue slide, ski, or snowboard just like any other ski resort. Even though it hasn't appeared with the ski resort in the few appearances it has made, there probably is a boat parking area, as a lot of locals and tourists come here. In the episode Pre-Hibernation, Sandy and SpongeBob have fun here by shell-snowboarding and tonuge-sliding before Sandy must go to sleep for Winter hibernation.

*Industrial Park: A factory-type area with goo storage. During the robot attack, this area was taken over by the Robo-Patrick. Also in the episode Pre-Hibernation Week, Sandy and SpongeBob go here for "a nice bike ride in the park". They nearly are killed by the dangerous machinery and poisonous goo, but make it out okay.

*Make-Out Reef: Where couples go to make out in their cars and/or have a picnic. It is located high on a cliff ridge just outside of Bikini Bottom.

*Sea Needle: the tallest free-standing structure and observation tower in Bikini Bottom. It is the Bikini Bottom equivalent of the Space Needle. It is also one of the most popular tourist attractions, as the observation deck has a great view of Bikini Bottom as seen in the SpongeBob SquarePants: Battle for Bikini Bottom video game. During the robot takeover, parts of the building fell down.

*Mermalair: Mermaidman and Barnacleboy's secret hideout hidden in the basement of the Shady Shoals Retirement Home. Mermaidman stores the Invisible Boat-Mobile here.

*Giant Anchor: seen in various episodes when looking from the skyline.

*Flower Arch: seen in season one episodes such as Suds and an early map of Bikini Bottom.

Roads

Some of the roadways in Bikini Bottom include:

*Albatross Avenue - as seen in the SpongeBob SquarePants: Revenge of the Flying Dutchman video game

*Anchor Way - road that contains Mr. Krabs's house, intersects with Conch Street. It doesn't have very many houses.

*Barnacle Road - as seen in the SpongeBob SquarePants: Employee of the Month PC game

*Conch Street - Main road that includes SpongeBob's, Patrick's, Squidward's, Sandy's, Grandma Squarepants's, and Mrs. Puff's houses, Shady Shoals Rest Home, The Fry Cook Museum, Mrs. Puff's Boating School, The Krusty Krab and The Chum Bucket, and stretches as far as downtown Bikini Bottom. It intersects with Coral Avenue. In the Battle for Bikini Bottom video game, this road runs in a north-south direction.

*Coral Avenue - intersects with Conch Street

*Shallow Grave Road

*Stormy Way - as seen in the SpongeBob SquarePants: Revenge of the Flying Dutchman video game

*Major Highway - as seen in Mid-Life Crustacean

*Wizard Street&minus; as seen in Hocus Pocus

*Shell Street- as seen in "Good Ol' Whatshisname." Consists of houses in the 150's, 150 Shell Street being the house of Mr. Wat Zit Toya.

Residential

*SpongeBob's Pineapple House - 124 Conch Street. His house is a large pineapple and is two stories high and fully furnished. There is a garage in the back of the house and two windows in the front. The garage can first or only be seen in the early short Reef Blowers and the episode Naughty Nautical Neighbors, although it was more recently seen in "Where's Gary?" when Gary left the house through it. It can also be seen in newer episodes of the show such as "The Gift of Gum". Out back of the house, the backyard is closed in by a square of flowers, much like the ones seen in the sky. On the first floor, his house features a living room, coat closet, a room with a fireplace, and a kitchen. The living room features an inflatable sofa and diving helmet TV. SpongeBob spends a lot of time here. There is a small table with a phone shaped like a conch shell, called a "shell-phone". One of the corners in the living room contains his desk. There's two fishing hook ornaments (one regular and one shaped like a fish) on the bamboo wallpaper. In addition, pictures of friends, family, and his favorite superheros are on the wall along with a porthole window. He also has a bookshelf. The kitchen contains a fridge, a stove, sink, a cupboard, and a table, and other typical kitchen tools. Gary's food bowl can also be found here. A green staircase is located outside of the kitchen. SpongeBob's bathroom, a long hallway, and the bottom of his library/study are on the second floor. Another long hallway, the top of his library/study and SpongeBob's bedroom are on the third floor. The staircase leads up to a long hallway. The hallway has doors leading to his bedroom and bathroom, as well as an additional staircase that leads to his library. In his bedroom, there is an alarm clock that is a loud foghorn. Above his bed (which has three mattresses) is a diving board. He has a giant calendar on the wall and a porthole window looking to Squidward's house. From SpongeBob's bedroom, there is another door leading to his library. The library/study, the largest room in the house, there is a chair chained to the ceiling by a fishing hook, as well as a huge pipe organ, and SpongeBob's other closet. It contains books such as Moby Dick, The Godfather, The Beach, and Silence of the Clams. SpongeBob keeps his comic books in this room too. Somewhere in his house is a room with a basketball hoop. There is also an escape hatch to the grassy roof of the house, that can be first seen in Jellyfish Jam and Something Smells

* Easter Island Head House - 122 Conch Street This house resembles the head of an Easter Island moai. The outside has a garage to the side, a door in the middle, two front windows on the second floor resembling eyes, a window on each "ear", and a back window overlooking the backyard. It is unknown if his backyard is squared out by something. The first floor features a living room which includes a TV, a shelf, and a couch. The kitchen merges with the living room and is located in the back part of the first floor. It contains a table, a counter, a small shelf, a refrigerator, four cabinets, and other kitchen tools. The dining room also merges with the living room. It contains shelves, a table, and a closet. A hallway leads to a large walk-in closet. The only way to get up to the second floor is to take an elevator. On the second floor is Squidward's bedroom, containing a closet full of alarm clocks, a bed, and a nightstand. Attached to Squidward's bedroom is his art gallery, which includes many of his artistic creations, as well as the place he practices his clarinet. He has a door to a large master bathroom on the left "ear", which includes a toilet, a sink, and a jacuzzi tub/shower. There is also a place to get up to his roof. In The Secret Box, when Patrick states not even Squidward's house knows what's inside his box, the house stares at the box and in Funny Pants, to block out SpongeBob's hysterical whining, the house has two hands come out of the sand to cover up it's ears. In Battle for Bikini

Bottom, the house is mistakenly called a tiki.

* Rock House - 120 Conch Street. This house is a half-spherical brown rock with an antenna on top. Inside, it varies between sand furniture, and real furniture such as a bed, bedside table, a TV, and a chair. In Naughty Nautical Neighbors there are several short wooden posts that are linked together by ropes out back, which is assumingly a fence, along with two garbage cans to the side of his house, and a grill, but the fence, the garbage cans, and the grill have not been seen in any other episode.

* "Treedome" - a dome filled with air, allowing her to function without her suit. It features a tree, with a bedroom inside, that includes her bed and bedside table; On the outside, there is a picnic table, an exercise wheel, and a birdbath. In the episode, Sandy's Rocket, the rocket is shown coming out of the ground. So, although it hasn't been shown, there is probably a laboratory underground. In "Squidtastic Voyage", Sandy's laboratory is more widely shown, yet it is located outside the Treedome.

*s and Pearl Krabs's anchor house - 3451 Anchor Way - This house is three stories high, with a basement. The basement is a large room with many valuable items and pictures. A vending machine and washer and dryer is also located in the basement. On the first floor, more valuable items and pictures are shown. In the dining room, there is a table, chair, and a window with a curtain. On the second floor to the right side of the house contains Mr. Krabs's bedroom. He sleeps in a hammock and has a bedside shelf. A master bathroom is connected from the bedroom which includes a toilet and a sink with a mirror. Pearl's bedroom is located on the left side of the house and contains a bed and walls filled with Boyz Who Cry posters.

*Mama Krabs's pink-colored anchor house - address unknown - Has a hallway, Mama Krabs's bedroom, and Mr. Krabs' bedroom from when he was a kid.

* pink-colored home - Contains a kitchen and a living room.

*Grandma SquarePants's house - A one-story home, has a kitchen and living room.

*Granny's House - Contains a nursery, kitchen, closet full of empty snail shells, and a living room. Seen in Where's Gary?

*Mrs. Tentacles's House - The residence of Squidward's mother. Like Squidward's house, but with a curly wig.

*Flying Dutchman's Ship - A giant ship owned and inhabited by the Flying Dutchman. It contains captains quarters, crew cabins and the perfume department from a mall. It is also used as a means of transportation for occasions where the Dutchman intends to haunt and scare the Bikini Bottom citizens.

*Other Houses- Throughout the city they are basic, usually grey, cylindrical houses that are most commonly located in downtown Bikini Bottom, but can also be seen off in the distance behind many major locations such as SpongeBob's house or the Krusty Krab. They usually have large exhaust pipes.

;41st Century

In 41st Century Bikini Bottom, everything is painted with chrome. The future Krusty Krab was seen, which contains a normal kitchen, only everything is chrome. A can opener room (down hall and to the left) and a Time Machine (down hall and to the right) are featured as well. The Time Machine is actually pink and green with a Tiffany-style light fixture, and has a lever labeled "past" and "future", with a key and three buttons to the right.

From Other Dimensions

;Unknown Dimension (possibly the space-time continuum)

This dimension features multi-coloured squares, in different places which disappear when lifted. Mysterious voices lurk around and copy words you may say (while spelling them out) with a blank white background; running here will take you back to where you started, as inspired by The Matrix. However, the time machine is always right under where you stand (revealed in SB-129)

;Parallel Bikini Bottom

An opposite version of Bikini Bottom; the only known inhabitant is a parallel SpongeBob.
